Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee for vice president, is to make a stop in this city Friday, Sept. 17th, and will deliver an address at noon from a specially constructed stand on Lincoln square. Roosevelt is on a speaking tour of the New England states in the interests of the party for which he stands, but the honor falls to Willimantic to be the first Connecticut city in which he will deliver an address. Plans for a welcome and something doing from 10:30 a. m. to 1:30 p. m., during which time Roosevelt will be the guest of the local democratic committee, are under way. It has been decided to have a band to entertain matters. The news that Roosevelt might possibly come to Willimantic was first learned Friday afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, when ex-Mayor Daniel P. Dunn received a telephone call from Chairman Lynch of the democratic state central committee. Chairman Lynch asked Mr. Dunn if he could use Roosevelt in this city Friday, Sept. 17th, for about four hours. Mr. Dunn replied: "Yes, Roosevelt! Well, I guess we can" and plans were made for the day. The speech by Roosevelt will probably be at about 12 o'clock, noon, when factory employees will be out in large numbers to have an opportunity to hear the nominee explain the aims of his party.

Willimantic's newest industry, the result of the labor of Stephen J. Davis of this city, is the making of metal hip shingles. A company entitled the Davis Metal Shingle Company has been formed, comprising H. A. Hughes, president; Thomas A. Nichols, vice president; William P. Jordan, treasurer; Stephen J. Davis, secretary and general manager; Ernest P. Chaslow, sales manager. The metal hip shingle to be manufactured is an improvement over any metal shingle now being used and it is claimed by its inventor that the metal hip shingle will outlast any of any other type. Mr. Davis' invention can be made of galvanized iron or copper and is made in such a way that the shingles overlap, thus covering the nails. A slightly raised air space allows for drying of any moisture that may collect. The hip shingle is made for a 5-foot pitch, another for a 7-12 inch pitch, and the shingles are easily bent to any angle included in these sizes. Mr. Davis, the inventor, has lived in this city for some 22 years, eight of which he was an employee of A. B. Burdham as a carriage maker. He spent most of his years manufacturing machinery at the Smith-Windham plant at South Windham. He has taken out patents on other inventions and is claimed as an all-round mechanic.

The marriage of Leon S. Duckworth of Lancaster, Pa., and Miss Irene D. Parent of this city took place Thursday evening at St. Mary's rectory. Rev. Edward A. Mathias performed the ceremony. Mr. Duckworth is an employee of the American Telephone and Telegraph company. His bride was employed by the American Thread company.

Harry McLaughlin, former physical director of the local Y. M. C. A., has taken up the contract of the late Lieut. Omar Locklear, who was killed in an airplane accident several months ago. Mr. McLaughlin is to finish the movie contract assigned to Locklear. McLaughlin recently pulled a hair-raising stunt when he stood on his hands on a chair balanced at the edge of the roof of the Congress hotel, (Chicago), some 250 feet above the pavement. Friends of McLaughlin in this city, remembering stunts of his while in this city, look to him to give the movie people their money's worth of dare-devil stunts.

The four young men arrested in this city some weeks ago for selling goods while wearing the U. S. army uniform were to appear before United States Commissioner Frederick J. Corbett on Thursday, but their case was again continued, this time until Monday of next week.

The case of Albert Girouard, charged with soliciting passengers for his automobile without a public service license, came up at the session of the police court Friday morning, but was continued for the third time, the new date of the hearing to be Sept. 18th, when the state will have several witnesses to testify. The police stated that many complaints had come in about Girouard doing a public service business without the proper license and it was decided to end that business quickly, so the arrest followed. Girouard, it is claimed, had another public service man doing the soliciting for him.

Miss Exina Barrett has returned home following a visit with her brother, Joseph Barrett, of Putnam.

When the Manchester team shows up here today (Saturday) for a game with the Thread Makers' team, to be played at Recreation park, they will have to face the pitching of Johnny Cooney. Willimantic's star pitcher and best man to compete with any hurler Manchester brings down. It isn't expected that Lefty Hyman will come down, as he has returned to school at Georgetown university, but Wolf of Hartford, a man with a "pop," will handle the ball in his stead. Cooney also has the goods and when he faces Manchester he will be forced to produce all he owns to win. No faster game of semi-pros has been played by the local management in this city thus far and from all accounts Manchester fans will bring some collateral with them today. Local fans will have the green to cover any bet from outside, so it is evident that a wee bit of money will change hands after the game. Willimantic fans would like to have seen Hyman come down, but with Wolf carrying a reputation as great as there is nothing to mar the game. Manager Tom Chambers of Manchester sends the batting order as follows: Massey 2b, Knoch 1b, Egan 3b, Wilson ss, Siplees 1b, Pay 1b, Warnock of Lamproct or Matchett c, Wolf p, Burkhardt, Schliege and Smith utility. The Thread Makers probably will look like this: Normandin p, Fletcher 1b, Harkness 2b, Noel c, McGinley c, Adams 1b, Smith rf, and Cooney p.

William Lutton, well known in this city, died Thursday night about 9:30 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Thomas Kishel, No. 42 Park street, death being due to senility. Mr. Lutton is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Thomas Kishel, with whom he lived, Mrs. Margaret Lynde of Rockville and Mrs. William Kishel of this city. There are three sons, Samuel Lutton of Rockville and John and William Lutton of this city. There are also grandchildren and great-grandchildren surviving him.

Eugene Racine, 4 son of Adolph and Eva Moore Racine, died early Friday afternoon at the home of his parents, No. 74 Meadow street. He was born in this city July 21, 1915. Surviving him, besides his parents, are several brothers and sisters.

What Is Going On Tonight?

Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at the Strand. Motion Pictures in Breed Theatre. Vaudeville and Motion Pictures at Davis Theatre.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

At the Breed Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

William S. Hart, the famous western star, is making his own pictures now with his own company and studio. They are the kind of virile, thrilling photoplays in which you like best to see "Bill Hart." The Breed feels fortunate in being able to announce the first of these greater Hart productions "The Toll Gate" which will be the feature attraction at the Breed theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. This is a red-blooded story of love, adventure and self-sacrifice in the great southwest of the border days. Mr. Hart himself and Lambert Hillyer, his director wrote it. Anna Q. Nilsson is the leading woman. An old favorite of former Hart pictures, the star's remarkably "Pinky" pony, returns to the screen after a long absence. Pearl White will also be seen in "The Toll Gate." Motion pictures on the bill include Pathe News.

Breed Theatre

Few motion picture actors are as much at home in stories of the sea as William S. Hart. Something of the daring and power of the sea seems to have been transmitted to his staid frame. Mr. Bosworth is ideally suited to his role as the veteran deep sea diver in "Below the Surface" which is the feature attraction at the Breed theatre today. Mr. Bosworth is Martin Flint, a sturdy New Englander. His son, Luther, is his partner in his dangerous adventures and the apple of his eye. Plucky, daring rescue of a submarine crew attracts James Arnold and Edna Jordan, unscrupulous promoters from Boston. Attracted by the girl, Luther becomes an unwitting partner in their schemes. The steamer in which they are traveling crashes into a derelict in a fog and sinks. Out of the wreck comes the means of clearing up Luther's difficulties and the vindication of Martin in his son's eyes.

The Pathe New and a Century come make up the remainder of the 100 four shows today at 1:30, 3, 5:15 and 8:15.

At the Strand Monday

Great novelty at the Strand Monday Tuesday and Wednesday showing the making of movie stars. Under an exclusive arrangement the Strand has secured the Kuhn Leichner Co., one of the leading moving picture producers of the film industry who is on the look out for stars and will give the people of Norwich a chance to qualify. Movies will also be taken of the audience at each show. A movie studio will also be erected on the stage. The patrons will be presented to play the leading roles of the different plays to be presented and any one who has the opportunity will have an opportunity to become a movie star as the demand for the movie stars are great and new stars are in demand. Enter your name now and you may be a Pickford or a Chaplin. You never can tell. Movies will be taken on the stage and around the city and will be shown on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Feature photoplays. Do not forget the date.

Last Day at the Strand

Do not miss seeing the show which is at the Strand for the last time today. The feature act is the Rialto Revue. 12 people, beautiful costumes, special scenery and a real big time musical comedy. This act runs for fifty minutes. It is worth the price of admission alone. The other attractions are Toots and Pal, a dog who acts as if he could talk. He does some clever tricks and so does his partner, T. Ling Sing, who is well known as the syncretizing Chinaman. Special emphasis will be given to the feature picture the Strand is showing Corinne Griffith, the screen's most fashionable dressed star in the Warner Bros. up-to-date weekly. The Strand has a big time show as usual, starting up with the Masque of Life a seven part super special production with an all star cast. This picture has been shown in the Strand for a long time and it also has a story that is mystifying until the last few feet of film. Screen Smiles with its funny sayings. Mack Sennett's laugh producing comedy and Franklin Armum in a powerful picture full of action entitled Hell's Fury Gordon.

Kingston Fair to Open Next Week. The management of Kingston Fair has its arrangements completed for the 47th annual fair to be held on the grounds September 14, 15, 16 and 17. The Kingston Fair is one of the popular old institutions which Rhode Island has been wise enough to retain.

Everybody looks forward to the annual exhibition of the arts, crafts, and industries of this busy little state, which has probably as varied an assortment of production as any in the union. Special emphasis will be given to exhibits and demonstrations of peculiar interest to the farmer. The exhibit of agricultural machinery this year, will be especially interesting. The opening day, Tuesday, September 14th, is the day to see the big exhibits.

There will be the usual fine exhibit of fruit and vegetables produced in the south county and the inevitable keen competition for the blue ribbon which rewards the ambitious grower for extra hoeing and pruning and back bending in surpassing the achievements of his neighbors.

In the household arts division women will find examples of the art of stitching in embroidery and shock, fancy needle work and lace making, which clever needlewomen will be quick to adapt to their own use.

The household department also includes exhibits of jellies and preserves, the kind for which New England is famous, clear and free from sediment where held up to the light, and as delicious as state as fruit can be when picked off the trees at exactly the right stage of ripeness and preserved the same day.

With many people the exhibits are a secondary consideration the fair being to them an opportunity to renew old acquaintances. Wednesday will be Grange day, with appropriate exercises, at which there is always a big turnout of Grangers and their friends.

Miss Agnes Franklin, of Jewett City has been visiting her uncle, Charles McDonnell.

Miss Mabel C. Kennedy, of Central Falls, spent Sunday and Labor Day at Mrs. E. E. Walter's. George Lincoln and family and William Weir were at Point Judith and Narragansett Pier, Monday.
